ready reported by the committees to be enacted, we must devote more time to the calendar."
One of the sharpest tilts of this session came yesterday between Delegate J. O. Heflin, Democrat, of King George, and S. P. Powell, Independent, of Spot-sylvania. Mr. Powell offered early in the session a bill changing the special road law of Spotsylvania County, repealing a special act creating a board of road commissioners for that county. The bill had been reported favorably by the Committee on Roads and In-ternal Navigation, and appeared on the House calendar as House bill No. 86. Yesterday Mr. Heffin moved to recom-mit the bill to the committee for furmit the bill to the committee for fur-ther hearing, which was adopted with-out dissent. Later Mr. Powell entered the hall of the House, and with some heat, demanded to know who was rep-resenting Spotsylvania County, its ac-credited delegate or the member from King George. He had not been con-sulted. sulted as to having the bill recom-mitted, the matter had been an issue in the campaign in which he was elected, and he considered the action taken n his absence "very discourteous." Mr. broached by the Commonwealth's attorney of Fredericksburg, and another citizen of that town, and had been informed that every good roads advocate in Spotsylvania County wanted the special road board retained. After further debate Mr. Powell moved to reconsider the vote by which the bill was recommitted, and the motion was reconsidered, ayes, 50; noes, 7; and the oill placed back on the House calendar.

At the request of Mr. Johnson, two Senate bills having to do with the is-suing of county bonds for road and bridge improvement were passed by After prolonged debate and the adop-tion of minor amendments, the House passed to its third reading and engross-ment a bill offered by Mr. Chalkley, amending the act in relation to the State Highway Commission, the amendments limiting the amount of State funds allowed to counties for road building where the counties do not take proper steps to keep the roads so con-structed in order. Delegate Baker, of Chesterfield Coun-

cline, to secure the discharge of Committee on Privileges and Elecons from further consideration of the dimary bill introduced by him dur-ing the first few days of the present ession, and to have the bill placed on he Senate calendar.

The thirty-minute debate on Sena-or Gravatt's metion was the first ing of the controversy that will cen-for the next few weeks around the raming of an acceptable primary elec-ion law to replace the present statute. The motion to discharge the commit-tee was opposed by Senators Holt and Hart, and supported by Senator Saunders. When the motion was put it was lost by a vote of 27 to 8. The members voted as follows:

Te discharge the committee—Featherston, Gravatt, Harman, Mapp, Paul, Saunders, Smith and Walker—8.

Gravatt Charges Delay.

Senator Gravatt called attention to a fact that although several primary for more than two weeks, the minittee has made no move towards easidering them or reporting any of bonsidering them or reporting any of them to the body. The framing of an equitable primary law, he said, was one of the immediate duties of the Gen-oral Assembly, and the object would be materially furthered by bringing some one measure before the Senate, where it could be made a special and continuing order and disposed of. He warned the Senate that if the measure

Ellyson Cuts Off Debate.
The debate, which threatened to beome heated, was at this point inter-

Senator Gravatt's motion, holding that while it was imperative that the pres-ent primary law be amended in im-portant respects, the task was not of such magnitude or urgency as to de-mand the discharge of the commit-tee at this time. If such a course was justifiable with regard to the pri-mary bill, he said, it could be as strong-ly urged as the proper procedure with regard to every other bill that was regard to every other bill that was on the committee's calendar. The bill, he thought, would profit by receiving first the attention of the committee before it was brought to the Senate.

Election of the judges of the State Supreme Court of Appeals by the people is the proposition contained in a bill offered in the House yesterday by Delegate R. Lindsay Gordon, Jr., of Louisa.

The bill is in the shape of a joint resolution, proposing the submission to the qualified voters of the State constitution of sections 91 and 192, providing that the judges of the Supreme Court of Appeals shall hereafter be chosen by the qualified voters of the State, and shall hold office for a term of twelve years; that no judge shall remain on the bench after reaching the age of seventy years, notwithstanding that his term of office may not have expired and that teh General Assembly may declars the office of any judge vacant should be be for any cause incapable of properly discharging the duties of his position.

The amendment to the Constitution propesses an election in November, 1920, of all the members of the court, for varying terms, only one to be elected at a time thereafter. The bill is regarded by many members as the most ultraprogressive measure that has come before this session.

Designate Charles W. Grant, of Russell County, offered a drastic law intended to check digarette snicking among boys. It prohibits the sale or giving away under heavy penalty of digarettes or digarette paper, to any person under eighteen years of age, or of digars, pipes or lobacco in any form to any person under sixteen years of age. The meat of the law is in the second section, which declares it to be unlawful for any person under the age of eighteen to smoke or have about his person or premises digarettes or digarettes of cigar.
